Global Engineering Internship Program

Thinking of driving with the professionals? Come and test drive your Conti career – as an engineering intern in Brazil, Czech Republic, Germany, Japan, Romania, Sweden, or the USA!

The Global Engineering Internship Program is all about connecting. You can apply for an internship in any participant country except your own, and will spend your 3–6 month program exchanging ideas and insights with your colleagues and peers around the world. To help break the ice, your global internship starts with a grand meeting of all the engineering interns in your year – the ideal way to build a network fast.

Got what it takes? As a student of Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Chemical Engineering, Chemistry, Physics or a comparable program, your analytical skills and flexibility complement each other perfectly. You enjoy teamwork and can already communicate fluently in English whereas an additional foreign language would be highly desirable. Now you're ready for the next step – in a challenging, open environment that will hone your professional skills from the very start.

Sounds like you? Contact us and let's talk about your future!
